

January 2021 Astoria Art Walk

Angi D Wildt Gallery - 3

106 - 10th Street

Richard Burke is captivated by the beauty, tranquility and drama of the mountains, forests. Exploring wild places instilled in him a poignant desire to capture and communicate fleeting light and ever-changing atmospheric conditions. In painting, he desires to seize and revere nature's ever varying harmonies of light and space. Burke prefers to work tonally with a limited palette, but it is the way he utilizes the palette knife which makes his style truly unique.

Astoria Institute of Music & Center for the Arts - 5

1159 Marine Drive

AIMCA welcomes three amazing artists to our venue to show for two months: Dave Ambrose will share his vibrant and diverse fine acrylic action oriented portraits and landscapes; Natalie Orr will present an array of intense dreamscape paintings with soulful and very relevant social messages and Alex Trevino will show unique visionary abstract paintings and collages with dramatic truths. Included in the show are the lovely ceramics by local artist TKO, and surreal art by Lisa Ackerman. Live music. Please call (503) 395-1221 for appt to see art before or after Artwalks and to get involved in music projects and art shows.

Astoria Underground Tours - 6

1125 Marine Drive

Music & Musings - Astoria Underground Tours will be lacing up their dancing shoes to bring in 2021. Whether on foot or in your car, enjoy bopping along to a projected visual collection of artist Sid Deluca's musings accompanied with some fun dance beats. Tours may be offered pending state guidelines for the area, stay tuned.

Astoria Visual Arts - 10

1000 Duane Street

AVA presents Willamette Line by Stephen Slappe, a video projection depicting the distance between the mouth of the Willamette River and Willamette Falls as a continuous moving line of video. Recorded by a drone, the projection reveals an unusual perspective that flattens and abstracts the passing landscape while providing glimpses of a variety of human activities along the 26-mile stretch of river. AVA is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that works to enhance, strengthen and promote the arts in Greater Astoria.

IGNITE! - Mega Light Installations

Across Astoria

Astoria Visual Arts welcomes Portland's Mobile Projection Unit to Astoria for a night of mega light installation at four outdoor venues. Each installation investigates a different aspect of water and how it pervades our consciousness, our mythologies, and our rituals of health and healing. Working remotely with Astoria's Sparrow Dance Company and with diverse collaborators from Portland and Japan, the artists, Fernanda D'Agostino and Sarah Turner, used digital programming to allow performers to embody the reality that in our essence we are all "sea creatures." Crystal Quarteaux creates sound spatialization to produce complex sonic realms. Site maps are available at AstoriaVisualArts.org and at many Art Walk venues. 7-9pm

Happy
New Year!

Imogen - 7

240 - 11th Street

We welcome in the New Year with a fresh collection by artist Kim Hamblin who brings her latest series of papercut assemblages, Metamorphosis. As artist and farmer, Hamblin's work is always intertwined with her lifelong love of the sciences, particularly anatomy, botany, biology, entomology and zoology. For this current series she applies the very definition of metamorphosis in considering disease, climate change and political strife in making a global impact, while also holding onto optimism for a brighter future for all. Hamblin's process goes beyond traditional paper cut work by adding painted surface and nails to further enhance pattern and texture, giving the finished composition an industrial element.

Lower Columbia Q Center - 1

171 W. Bond Street

Come visit the new Q Center for this January's art walk! The Q Center is Astoria's own resource center for LGBTQIA+ folks and their families. We will be featuring several new and local talented artists within our LGBTQIA+ community! Stop by during the art walk, or anytime during office hours to view local art and receive support!

Oscar de' Masi Art Gallery - 9

1145 Commercial Street

There is a lot going on at the gallery in January! Oscar has multiple exciting new works in a variety of mediums. There are new Rain Series paintings, abstracts and more. Artisan and handcrafted furniture maker, Michael Demasi, makes his debut with incredible woodwork pieces using locally sourced woods. We also have the privilege of hosting watercolor artist, Karl Hauer. His incredible use of color compliments the aquatic and wildlife creatures in his work.

Paul Polson Studio Gallery - 2

100 - 10th Street

We are proud to present the paintings of Carrie Williams for the second month. If you missed her work in December be sure and come by and see the work in person. Her work combines the qualities of Impressionism and Abstract Expressionism. She also has a background in Classical Realism. Paul will add a couple of landscapes of the Manzanita area as he prepares for his show at the Hoffman Center for the Arts.

RiverSea Gallery - 8

1160 Commercial Street

COLORFUL ABSTRACT PAINTINGS HERALD THE NEW YEAR - In a show titled, Emotional Alignments, abstract paintings by Dayna Collins offer an exuberant burst of color to welcome 2021. Working from her Astoria studio, the artist combines multiple layers of oil paint with cold wax over plaster to create works with rich luminosity and interesting surfaces. Her current series was painted as an emotional response to the pandemic, politics and wildfires of 2020. Collins shows her artwork throughout the Pacific Northwest. Show dates: Jan. 9 — Feb. 9, 2021; Reception: Saturday, Jan. 9, from 12-8pm; Meet the artist: 5-8pm

Vaulted Gallery - 11

1389 Duane Street

This month we are showcasing panoramic landscape photography by James Crowe, finely crafted wooden tables, lamps and sculptures by JR Moyer, abstract paintings by Jen Crowe, and landscape paintings by both Scott Vaughan and Maquette Reeverts. Our collection of silver, bronze and steel artisan jewelry is also on display.

West Coast Artisans Gallery - 4

160 - 10th Street

As usual, this will be a low-key, strolling type of Art Walk so give yourself plenty of time to explore all the art that Astoria and West Coast Artisans have to offer. Check out the pen and ink sketches of Chris Bryant, explore Astoria from new angles with the aerial photos of Mark Hutchings or contemplate the watery original oils of Michael Muldoon from Noon to around 8 pm.
