September 2020 Astoria Art Walk

Angi D Wildt Gallery - 2

106 - 10th Street

Local scenes along the coast and coastal towns will be featured in September. The Angi D Wildt Gallery which recently relocated from Seaside to 106 10th Street in Astoria is currently featuring an intimate group of local and national artists working in the mediums of oil, watercolor, photography, marble, bronze, glass mosaics, fused glass and jewelry. Private tours are available by appointment. Home trials are also available.

Astoria Institute of Music & Center for the Arts - 7

1159 Marine Drive

We will be showing Brianna Horton's beautiful jewelry and acrylic paintings from the heart, Cass Mullin's lovely resin window art, and resident artist Lisa Ackerman's surreal paintings while Peter Unander plays live music.

AVA Center for the Arts - 12

1000 Duane Street

In "Ad Nauseam," Garland Kirkpatrick repurposes the commercial vernacular of signs, utilizing graphic arts to 'push' messages that call for social justice. Kirkpatrick is an award-winning American graphic designer, artist, curator, and educator. His social graphics are in numerous museum collections and design and printing archives. They are widely published, have appeared in films, and are exhibited in the United States and internationally. Astoria Visual Arts (AVA) is a 501(c)3 nonprofit that works to enhance, strengthen and promote the arts in greater Astoria.

Brumfield Gallery - 6

1033 Marine Drive

This month's featured show is "Dawning Splendor," pairing the work of two Oregon artist's, Kamala Dolphin-Kingsley and Mary Alayne Thomas. Our collections exhibit features Duy Huynh, Emily C. McPhie and Maggie Taylor. We are open for the Second Saturday Art walk, 11am – 8pm, with a limited capacity of ten visitors at any one time. We suggest making a reservation to guarantee access at the time of your choice, by calling 503-714-3439.

Cambium Gallery - 13

1030 Duane Street

Join Cambium Gallery for the second half of our flagship exhibition "We've Never Done This Before." Artist Audrey Long will be sharing a second special release of ceramics and artist Kirista Trask will be sharing a brand new selection of abstract floral pieces. Both artists releases focus on art as meditation and other simple coping mechanisms during a global pandemic. Open 12-8pm on Saturday or by appointment.

Imogen - 8

240 - 11th Street

We are pleased to welcome back Laura Hamje for her second exhibition at Imogen. She brings a new series of nostalgic and contemplative oil paintings that depict the often dramatic light of the Pacific Northwest skies. Hamje of Seattle has found herself haunted for years by the rugged terrain of the lower Columbia region. Her imagery for this series largely focuses on iconic structural elements that appear to support the ever changing moody skies. She's held a strong love and fascination for the area and as a result it's become informative to her work, shaping her vision through our own landscape.

Oregon Gypsy Gallery - 11

1426 Commercial Street

We recently opened this gallery as a way to connect more personally with the community. We are a husband and wife team working with a variety of mediums including metal, ceramics, leather and wood.

Oscar d'Masi Studio and Gallery - 10

1145 Commercial Street

We are featuring the glorious wildlife watercolors of local artist and native son, Karl Hauer. Stop by to say hi and enjoy these wonderful works! Karl shares his unique view of many aquatic creatures including Sea Turtles, Jelly Fish, Fish and so much more! We also have new works from Oscar de' Masi to share with you! As always, we thank you for your support, it means so much!

Paul Polson Studio Gallery - 1

100 - 10th Street

Paul Polson Studio Gallery: John Willis will exhibit twenty three Paintings of the Astoria area. Paul Polson will show his work as well.

RiverSea Gallery - 9

1160 Commercial Street

Shifting Fragments is a three person show exploring the fragmentation of our lives caused by the pandemic. Alea Bone creates butterflies and Corona Virus art masks from vintage tin and ephemera, Stephanie Brockway incorporates carved wood and found objects to depict endangered species, and Heide Davis paints abstracted nudes in oil. In our Alcove view Ethereal Atmosphere, landscape paintings by Paula Blackwell. Working in translucent layers of pigmented beeswax on panel, she creates luminous vistas in a style influenced by the Hudson River School and J. M. W. Turner.

Tempo Gallery...

no longer has a storefront location in Astoria. We hope you will continue to follow our TEMPO GALLERY artists on our Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/pages/Tempo-Gallery/499055720141687>

The Secret Gallery - 3

160 - 10th Street

The Secret Gallery's September - October 2020 show, titled "Sins of the Father" will include works by contemporary artists alongside work by their fathers. The show will include works by: Ian, Emily, Caitlin, and Maria McVarish; Thomas and Rueben Rude; Richard and Sterling Gorsuch; Price and Brandon Policky; and Michael and Elena Orwick.

Vaulted Gallery - 14

1389 Duane Street

This month we feature the work of Nehalem based intuitive painter, Shaukya Dekker. Shaukya's show, "Heart of the World" is a collection of luminous abstract oil paintings. Born in Holland and inspired by the realm of spirit, outsider artist Shaukya Dekker has passionately created art for more than 20 years. Her intuitive visionary work expresses a personal and collective process of healing and transformation. She describes her process as "meditation in motion and entirely spontaneous."

Vintage Hardware - 5

1162 Marine Drive

Salvage Collage: A Sort of Magic. Dayna Collins has always loved old books. She hyperventilates at the sight of books which are stained, defaced, torn or marked up. She rips battered books apart, reclaiming their faded fragments, and creates collages using the materials she has excavated. Dayna's mixed media pieces reflect the passage of time, repurposing the scraps that are worn and weathered, transforming the aged and tattered pieces into something unexpected and beautiful, celebrating their fragile decay. Meet and greet the artist from 3-5pm during Art Walk.

West Coast Artisans Gallery - 4

160 - 10th Street

Stop by West Coast Artisans to see new nature photos by Jess Gillies and the phenomenal puzzle work by Crystal Neher. Maybe some last minute new art by some of our other artists. Anything's possible!
